

Therese Brown

Baba Yaga's

Garden

This series of work is called Baba Yaga's garden, referencing the archetype and figure from Eastern European folklore. Baba Yaga is a teacher and task master, as is the garden. The lessons learned through both may bring an individual into their fullest potential.

Perhaps one of the greatest lessons is the realization of connection to nature and to the earth and all those who share this lived experience on the planet. All the botanicals illustrated come from my own garden, representing the symbiotic experience that all gardeners know. These are cyanotype prints on watercolor paper.

